GERMAN PLANES RAID SHIPS ALONG COAST OF ENGLAND

Said To Have Attacked Both
The Allied and Neutral
Shipping

2ND SUCCESSIVE DAY

Disappear On the Approach
Of Royal Air Force
Fighters

By Robert G. Nixon
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 30.—For the second day in succession, Nazi war planes raced along the coast of England and Scotland today in a series of attacks upon allied and neutral shipping in British waters.

Plushed by the successes of yesterday, when at least 14 vessels were bombed or machine gunned from the air, the German planes raided ships over a widespread area, the Air Ministry announced. The Ministry said: "The enemy is repeating the widespread attacks on east coast shipping which they undertook yesterday."

"Reports so far indicate that early today, reconnaissance aircraft appeared off the east coast, but disappeared to sea on the approach of Royal Air Force fighters. An enemy plane attacked shipping off Yarmouth, but was pursued by coastal fighters and parallel aircraft, with results that are not yet known."

Through the day messages from east coast towns told of the appearance of German airplanes, but all were flying high, and no bombs were dropped.

Three British fighting planes intercepted and drove off to sea a large German bomber. The Reich plane was sighted flying close to shore but fled seaward as the pursuing British planes opened a burst of machine gun fire.

These raids, it was believed, may precede an effort by Chancellor Hitler to start Great Britain by blasting her sea-borne commerce in nearby waters.

This opinion spread among experts in London today, following yesterday's German attacks in which at least 18 German planes carried out widespread efforts against British and neutral shipping in coastal areas.

Major Soviet Advance Imminent

Viborg, Finland, Jan. 30.—With Russian losses estimated to date at 200,000 men, reports from all battle fronts indicated today that a new and major Soviet advance against Finland is imminent.

These military advances stated that the Russians are sending heavy reinforcements to all their lines, both on the Mannerheim Line in the Karelian Isthmus and along the eastern Finnish border, north of Lake Ladoga.

Meanwhile, Finnish sources claimed that 17 Russian planes were shot down during yesterday's Soviet air raid over southern Finland, during which more than 100 persons were reported killed, and between 250 and 300 were wounded.

Store Chorus To Give Concert For Finnish Fund

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—Tuesday evening, February 6th, the Strawbridge & Clothier Chorus will give a concert and dance at Town Hall for the benefit of the Finnish Relief Fund. Town Hall, at Broad and Race streets, was formerly known as the Scottish Rite Temple. The auditorium seats about 2,000 and the beautiful Colonial ballroom is ideal for dancing.

The Strawbridge & Clothier Chorus of 100 voices, under the direction of Dr. Herbert J. Tilly, will present a popular program including some Victor Herbert numbers and the vocal adaptation of the middle movement from Sibelius' tone poem "Finlandia."

Among the added attractions are the Junior Dance Group of the American-Swedish Historical Museum giving folk dances in native costumes; Anna Burnstein-Bieler, famous Viennese pianist; Linda Lackie, chosen by the Junior League as the young woman most closely approximating the physical measurements and general characteristics of Scarlett O'Hara as portrayed by Vivien Leigh in the moving picture "Gone With the Wind." Miss Lackie, with her partner, will do the new Scarlett O'Hara waltz; Finnish singers in native costumes will sing the national anthem of Finland.

After the concert there will be dancing to the music of a popular orchestra. Tickets are on sale at the Strawbridge & Clothier stores in Philadelphia, Ardmore and Jenkintown; also by various organizations interested in the worthy cause. Strawbridge & Clothier are paying all expenses connected with the concert and dance, and donating the entire ticket sales to the Finnish Relief Fund.

PERKASIE COUPLE ARE WED SIXTY-ONE YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Abram C. Moyer
Fittingly Observe Their Anniversary

CHILDREN PLAN AFFAIR

PERKASIE, Jan. 30.—Sixty-one years ago last Thursday was the wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. Abram C. Moyer, who fittingly observed the anniversary.

Children of the venerable couple arranged a family gathering, with luncheon, for the two who are past 80 years, and who are enjoying life in excellent health, in their cozy home.

Mr. and Mrs. Moyer are both natives of Blooming Glen. Before marriage, Mrs. Moyer was the former Salome Fulmer. They were united in marriage in Sellersville by the late Rev. Charles Kehm, on January 25, 1879. After their marriage they lived temporarily with Mrs. Moyer's parents, where Mr. Moyer assisted with the farm work. He had many and varied interests and worked throughout his long life here. He operated a creamery at Fifth and Walnut streets, Perkassie; later he owned and conducted a retail milk business in Perkassie. Between these two ventures the Moyers returned to their native Blooming Glen and after he sold his retail milk business here they again returned to Blooming Glen. At the latter place he sold and repaired machinery and more recently conducted a cobbler shop at which he worked until he was 80 years old. Several months ago they purchased the dwelling on South Fourth street, which they now occupy.

They reared five children, all of whom reside here. They are: Mrs. Lillie Baum, Mrs. Harvey Hunsicker, Mrs. J. Philip Landenberger, Edward Moyer and Albert Moyer. There are six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The anniversary program was quite modest. Their children arranged a family gathering with luncheon at evening, and during the day a number of friends called to extend felicitations. Both Mr. and Mrs. Moyer enjoy excellent health, and Mrs. Moyer attends daily to her household duties.

FIREMEN TO MEET

The quarterly meeting of the Bristol Consolidated Fire Company will be held tonight in the assembly room, Municipal Building, at eight o'clock. The officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Scene At Midnight

(By "The Stroller")
Time: Midnight.
Scene: 300 Block of Mill Street.
Properties: One long ladder.
Temperature: Zero.

A well-known Mill street merchant and members of his family arrive home after a pleasant evening. The aforesaid M. S. M. searches his pocket for key, but in vain. Women of the party ransack purses, but faces remain blank, and hopes sink in the freezing coldness.

A light dawn, and the man of the house reconnoiters, and after a trip half-way around the block to the rear of his property, and back again, he carries a long ladder. Up, up it goes, against the second story window sill. And up, up, goes the 200-pounder, gaining the upper rung, and then with a little pushing, shoving and grunting he is finally inside. Downstairs he hurries to unlock the door and permit the family to enter. But his midnight task is not ended until the ladder is again carried half-way around the block and placed in its original position. Then, snuggling into bed, he vows to pin a key in his pocket the first thing on the morrow.

Borah's Date With Hitler Not Fulfilled

Washington, Jan. 30.—William E. Borah died without keeping a 14-month-old date with Chancellor Adolph Hitler for a personal conference in Germany.

America's master statesman received a highly-desired invitation to visit Hitler as the guest of the German Reich in November, 1938. He postponed immediate action because of the attitude of the State Department. He postponed it again because of a Presidential utterance in the following January. The European war postponed it for him forever. But Borah died still hoping he might cross the Atlantic some day to meet Hitler face to face in a friendly conference.

He hoped to intervene with the German Chancellor in behalf of the Jews of greater Germany. If he won some concession from Hitler, Borah believed he would establish a historic precedent for eliminating religious bigotry from the world.

Secondly, he hoped to have a discussion on international affairs with Der Fuehrer, probably on points pertaining to a basis for international peace.

AGED WOMAN TELLS OF MERCY DEATH BELIEF

Miss Margaret L. Cowan, 77,
Appears Before A Sanity
Commission

KILLED HER SISTER

That an individual afflicted with an incurable disease and suffering from it should be "mercifully removed" was the belief advanced by Miss Margaret L. Cowan, 77-year-old Quakertown nurse, as she appeared before a sanity commission on Saturday. Miss Cowan is the self-confessed slayer of her sister, Mrs. Louella Saeger, the murder being committed when Miss Cowan visited the ill woman in Allentown State Hospital, last August.

"The doctors often told me that my sister's case was hopeless, and told me that even on the last day I visited my sister in the hospital," stated Miss Cowan.

A clue to the possible defense, should she stand trial, was given when her counsel, Attorney Daniel M. Garrahan, questioned her on this subject of "mercy" slaying, and then introduced for the record literature from the Euthanasia Society in New York City, calling attention to the prominent physicians who have endorsed proposed State legislation on the subject.

Attorney Garrahan also injected a new angle in the case when he warned John Saeger, husband of the slain woman, that his answer to a question put by Mr. Garrahan might make him an accessory before the crime.

Saeger, ill at ease on the witness stand in contrast to the calm assurance of Miss Cowan, was asked why, if he thought Miss Cowan was going to put her sister away, he continued to take her with him to the hospital.

When did Miss Cowan say she was going to shoot her sister? Attorney Garrahan demanded, warning Saeger that he might incriminate himself if he answered.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

A retired realtor, Milo Brackbill, died at his home in Furlong, on Saturday, at the age of 80 years. He had also served many years as an insurance broker, and was formerly a member of the firm of I. H. Herr & Brother.

Born in West Lampeter, Lancaster county, Herr was the son of Cyrus N. and Mary Brackbill Herr. He taught school for a number of years in Lancaster county and later became engaged in the real estate and insurance business with his brother.

Ten years ago the deceased retired and moved to Bucks county, where he has resided since at his Old York Road home. At the time of his death, he was president of the Elm Lawn Cemetery Company at Kenmore, near Buffalo, N. Y., and was a director of the Non-

Retailing Company, a Lancaster wholesale jewelry firm.

The survivors include the wife, Daisy Brooks Herr; two brothers, Ira H. Herr, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Allen C. Herr, Chicago printing firm executive, and a sister, Miss Bertha N. Herr, of Lancaster.

Interment will be in the Strasburg Cemetery.

The sixth anniversary of Branch Valley Fish, Game and Forestry Association will be conducted on February 6th. A special program of entertainment is being arranged, and ladies' night will be observed at that time.

When 22 members of Middletown Grange visited Plumsteadville Grange, Friday evening, the travelling gavel was presented by R. Walker Jackson, to Howard M. Myers, Master of the host Grange.

The Grange at Plumsteadville will take the gavel to Keller's Church Grange at a later date.

Fifty members of Plumsteadville organization were in attendance, with three visitors from Chalfont also being welcomed.

During the very short business session the master, Howard M. Myers, appointed Ralph Zemel, Floyd Fryling and Mrs. Sylvester Emig to serve on the resolutions committee, and John C. Gruver, Oliver C. Landis and I. Newton Kulp as members of the legislative committee.

The program was in charge of Mrs. B. Barnason, lecturer of Middletown Grange. This was opened with group singing, following which Mrs. R. Walker Jackson, of Middletown Grange, gave a short talk on "The Home in Relation to the Community." The community, she said, should be regarded as a chain with the homes making up the various links. In this chain, she said, there must be no weak links. The individuals should build the homes to the credit of the community, and the children should be taught to develop their talents and to put them to use in various community affairs.

Rev. N. B. Yerger, of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Quakertown, has announced that $4,200 had been paid into the building fund during the year and that the second anniversary of the new church school building will be observed Sunday, May 5.

Enos Koch, aged 82, Sellersville, is improving after having undergone an operation for appendicitis in Grand View Hospital, Sellersville.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

A Yardstick Needed

Washington, Jan. 29. THERE are few fields of human activity where the ethics of what it is decent for a man to do or what it is not decent for him to do are lower or looser than in Congress. And, of course, except in the judiciary, there is no place where they should be higher or tighter. It is hardly debatable that the personal conduct of those engaged in the public service should be, at least, as clean—in financial matters—as those in private life. Certainly, the public servant should not be permitted to fall short of the standard to which governmental agencies require the businessman to adhere. Nevertheless, the simple fact is that in many cases they do fall short. And there is no yardstick by which they are measured.

ATTENTION to this is drawn by recent disclosure in the Louisville Courier-Journal by its Washington correspondent, Mr. Ulric Bell, of certain facts concerning Representative Andrew J. May, of Kentucky, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee. Last year Mr. May, it seems, sponsored a bill which led to the $100,000,000 authorization for the purchase of war materials such as manganese, tin, rubber, etc. This year Mr. May is disclosed as head of a manganese producing corporation seeking War Department contracts, made possible by the law of which Mr. May was the author. There is no dispute about the facts.

ON the question of propriety Mr. May asserts that he asked Secretary of War Woodring if there

BUCKS COUNTY GIVES $633 TO SALVATION ARMY

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED

With the Bucks County Division reporting total contributions of $633.40 at the report luncheon of The Salvation Army's Greater Philadelphia Maintenance Fund Campaign for $200,000, volunteer workers in this area are renewing vigorous efforts to increase the amount of gifts.

The luncheon this week will be known as "Main Line Day" with workers from that division in charge of arrangements.

Wallace G. Murfit, Newtown, chairman of Bucks County Division, issued an appeal for residents of this area to join in the support of The Salvation Army's work.

Phone Rates For Calls Within State Are Reduced

Rates for intrastate out-of-town telephone calls between points in excess of 40 miles apart will be reduced in amounts ranging from 5 cents to 20 cents, depending upon the air-line distance involved, according to the Bell Telephone Company.

For instance, the day rate on an intrastate call for which the station-to-station charge for a 3-minute conversation is 45 cents will be lowered to 40 cents. Savings to the public as a result of the reductions will be about $600,000 annually over the state as a whole. J. Howard Reiff, manager for the Bell Telephone Company, said.

Bell Telephone Company subscribers who, since April 1, 1938, have made intrastate out-of-town calls to points for which rates are now being reduced will receive from the Bell Telephone Company a credit covering the difference between what they actually paid for such calls and what they would have paid under the lower rates.

Approximately $900,000 is involved in these credits and about 400,000 subscribers will be affected. Details for adjusting subscribers' accounts are now being worked out. Probably a month or more will be required to complete arrangements, Mr. Reiff stated.

Baptist Convocation To Be Held February 22nd

A Baptist Convocation, for the Southeastern Pennsylvania district, will be held on Thursday, February 22nd, at the Baptist Temple and in Mitten Hall, Broad and Berks streets, Philadelphia. This is one of a 100 all-day meetings being held in various key cities throughout the nation.

The Convocation, sponsored by the Northern Baptist Convention, is planned for pastors, church officers, church school workers, women, young people, and all who have the advancement of Christ's Kingdom as their fundamental objective, from each church in the Philadelphia, North Philadelphia, Central Union, and Riverside Baptist Associations. There are 176 churches in this area, comprising Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Philadelphia counties and representing 47,000 members. An attendance of 3,500 is expected. It will stress the Baptist tenet that the one and only way to save civilization from disaster is to win more men to the Christian faith and the Christian life. The dominant note of evangelism, in the meeting, will be the denominational reply to "What can the Church of Christ do now, as the shadow of another world war with all its tragedy, deepens?"

Safety Records Good In Penna. Industries

Pennsylvania's official safety flag will fly widely over industry this year, and safety certificates will be displayed in many a factory. Accident reports already received in January by the Bureau of Inspection of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry show that a surprisingly large number of establishments operated through 1939 with perfect records or with so few injuries as to qualify them for awards.

For the first time since the State Safety Contest was started nine years ago, the reports will permit comparison of records of individual plants for succeeding years. This year's report form, prepared by the State and Federal Authorities acting in cooperation, asks for the accident experience of both 1938 and 1939. Thirty thousand of these forms were mailed at the beginning of the month to that number of establishments. This is more than twice the number ever previously solicited. Many thousands already have been returned with the information requested. When these reports have been analyzed they will provide the most extensive detailed information of the industrial accident situation ever collected in any state.

Secretary Lewis G. Hines of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry stated today that he was very much gratified by the manner in which employers were responding to the request for accident information in connection with the contest. The period for filing reports expires February 1, 1940, and it is anticipated that a very complete return will have been made by that time.

As soon as possible after the forms are in hand, determination will be made of those entitled to awards. Honor certificates will be issued for perfect records and Merit certificates for records better than the State average for the group classifications of industry in which the various establishments are listed. Award of a safety certificate this year will entitle the recipient to purchase the official safety flag for outdoor display, or a safety banner suitable for hanging on the wall of an office or committee room.

MUST OBEY ITS OWN LAWS

When the baseball world became "wise" to the benefits of publicity and of keymen well and favorably known to the public, it hired a judge named Kenesaw Mountain Landis to be the dictator of the business. It may have been in the minds of some of the baseball magnates that Landis would be a mere figurehead, one who might add face to the industry. But Landis has fooled them. He insists on taking seriously the bossing job for which he was hired.

His name has figured prominently in the news for several years, especially when he rapped the knuckles of certain baseball heroes when they were bad boys. Now he makes the headlines again as he tosses what one sports writer calls a $500,000 penalty bombshell into the camps of the organized sport. Says Landis:

"Notice is hereby given all clubs, club officials and employees that the evils of common control of player dealings of two clubs in the same league, and perversion of working agreements for the wholesale covering up of players, must cease; and, that all club officials and employees found to be involved in any such misconduct after this date will be placed on the ineligible list, maximum fines will be imposed on each club concerned and all players mis-handled therein will be declared free agents."

This ruling has been declared to be the severest in the history of Landis. Here he again opposes the covering-up system in major-minor league deals. But all he asks here is that baseball shall live up to its own laws. So simple it is for a man to be a czar.

HONORS FOR THE REPORTER

Reporters have a right to resent the statement of George Duhamel, of the French Academy, that "reporting has taken its place as a type of literature." He said so in welcoming a new member, Jerome Tharaud, whose reputation was mainly made as a newspaper correspondent. Reporters who have been working at it a long time without accolade are entitled to think that the French Academy was slow in finding out that reporting is often good writing and sometimes literature.

It is absurd to draw invidious distinctions between good writing between the covers of a book and in the pages of a newspaper. And from newspaper pages, for that matter, have been derived books which the most critical opinion would call literature. Many great books might be called examples of skilled and colorful reporting.

The real reporter is no casual chronicler of events. He strives for clarity, color, vividness and other literary virtues. He writes better than many who make books to be quickly read and quickly forgotten. Often he is a stylist, so that his work is unmistakably his own. Such writing should not be denied the name of literature because it is done for the days' event and the day's audience.

So was the Declaration of Independence, which even the French Academy would admit to be literature.

"What will a nickel buy?" asks a Missouri editor. Well, for one thing, it will buy more flax seed than you can put in your eye in a year if you don't do anything but that.

2. A strange nervous disorder characterized by sudden and irresistible attacks of sleep. More than a hundred cases have been reported in the United States since 1918 in which the sufferers fell asleep, for example while shopping, swimming, telephoning, and even driving in traffic. Victims of this ailment are now being relieved by a drug.

3. When a man arises suddenly from a sitting position, the additional weight momentarily created by the action nearly equals his normal weight. Therefore, grandstands and stadiums are usually constructed so that each seat and the standing space in front of it will sustain a load of at least 300 pounds.

were any reason he should not bid, to which Mr. Woodring replied, "None in the world." Mr. Woodring does not confirm this, but certainly he did know that the chairman of the Military Affairs Committee was the dominant figure in a corporation bidding on a Government contract his own bill had made possible. The impropriety is best attested by the fact that as soon as the disclosure was made Mr. May announced his bid had been withdrawn. That there will be any House action in the matter is not likely.

MR. MAY will continue, unopposed, as head of his House Committee. Yet this seems as clear a case as could be had of a man who attempted to use his public position for his private enrichment—an attempt in which a Cabinet officer is alleged to have acquiesced. If the Congress can permit that sort of thing to be done by one of its leaders, it is pertinent to ask where it could draw the line at all. If a member of Congress can do that kind of thing without suffering in prestige with his colleagues or creating resentment among his constituents, without losing either his seat or his self-respect, it would be interesting to know exactly what he would have to do to incur a penalty.

IN defense of Mr. May, it is urged that other members of Congress are interested in Government contracts and have done similar things. Perhaps that is right. Certainly, there are Senators who capitalize their membership in that body to their personal advantage. There are Senators on the pay roll of private corporations and others who profit from their law firms and act as counsel to concerns having business with the Government. And there are Senators who maintain extensive business and professional connections with industrial institutions, whose interests are affected by legislation upon which they must vote. A good many continue to practice law or conduct commercial enterprises. There are few, indeed, who take the view of the late Senator Borah, that the people who elected him were entitled to his full time, and engaged in no outside activities at all. Senator Norris, of Nebraska, is another whose concept of his job has kept him a poor man but gained him the unqualified respect even of those who do not share his political views. And there are one or two others.

IN the main, however, Senators and members of the House do not divorce themselves from their money-making activities while in Congress. There have been shocking cases of Senators who, in committees, directly voted to report bills the effect of which was to enrich themselves. Few of these instances become public, but even when they do they seem not to

GRUNDY FIVE WINS SENSATIONAL GAME FROM ROHM & HAAS

Basketball Game Ends in A Typical Frank Merriwell Style

FINAL SCORE IS 26 TO 25

Gallagher, Despite An Injury, Leads His Team In Scoring

The Rohm and Haas-Grundy basketball game ended in typical Frank Merriwell style last night.

The Frank Merriwell on the Grundy team was none other than the red-headed Billy Gallagher. With Rohm and Haas in the lead 25-23, and five seconds remaining to be played, Billy shot the ball from side court. Just as the ball left his hand, Joe Roe fouled him.

Referee Morgan detected the foul and sounded his whistle just as the timer of the game, Al Tentilucci pulled the trigger signifying the end of the game. But following the course of the ball, it arched correctly, hit the outer rim of the basket, danced up and down, and then fell through the nets for the tying field goal.

But then there was still the foul to contend with. The game was over but the foul had been made and now the score was deadlocked at 25-25. Two Rohm and Haas players insisted on taking their places under the basket so as to distract Gallagher's attention. But the carrot-topped Grundy forward, nonchalantly stepped to the foul line and sunk in the free try to win the game for the woolen twisters, 26-25.

Again to make it a real Frank Merriwell story, Gallagher had been injured in the first period. And at times he re-entered the game hobbling about on one foot but this did not stop him from making four field goals and a foul to lead his team in scoring.

There was no doubt as to the Grundy victory. The Rohm and Haas team faltered and failed badly. At one stage of the game, the chemical workers were leading by nine points, 23-14. And after Gallagher had deadlocked the score at 23-23, foul shots by Johnny Cole and Bobby Weideman put them ahead, 25-23. Incidentally, the two foul points made at this session of the game were the only points scored by the 1938 champions in the last quarter.

An interesting guarding duel had the attention of the fans during the night. Johnny Cole, better known for his football exploits, was entangled with Johnny Zack, high scoring ace of the Grundy team. Zack scored but one field goal that being a side shot which cleanly cut the nets. Cole had three double-deckers, two long shots in the initial period, and an under-the-basket shot, in the second session.

In the second half of the game after rolling in 17 points the first half, Rohm and Haas counted but three field goals and all were made by Joe Roe. Grundy counted five two-pointers in the second half, three by Gallagher, two by Buckman, one each by Zack and Nowalski.

Both teams were given a big ovation by the large crowd which attended the game.

Manhattan, 51; Falls Alumni, 36

With its defense completely shattered in the second half, the Falls Alumni five was swamped by the Manhattan Soap Company quintet last night on the Italian Mutual Aid floor. Final score was 51-36 and the victory enabled the soap-workers to creep to within one-half game of the second place Rohm and Haas team.

Falls played good ball for the first half and at one time had a 7-point lead but all this went by the wayside as Joe Snyder and his mates found the range of the baskets and began to bury field goals.

Joe Snyder with his overhead shots accounted for eight field goals and three fouls, nineteen points, a good night's work for any basketball player. He was closely followed by Punkie Zeffries who hit the cords for a sextet of goals and a single foul for 13 points.

Results of last night
Third Ward, 26; Franklin, 20

A third period rally by the Third Ward team gave them a 26-20 victory over the Franklin A. C. last night in a tilt which brought a halt to the Franklin five game winning streak and made it six straight for the Pikers, giving them undisputed possession of first place in the Suburban League.

It was the shooting of Dugan which gave the Pikers the victory. In the first quarter, Dugan twice shook the cords for goals which put his club ahead, 4-2, as Palumbo scored for Franklin. However, in the second period, Coach Ciafella scored twice for Franklin and DeLuca's goal made the score 8-4 as the Third Warders were held scoreless.

BRISTOL WRESTLERS ARE TROUNCED BY STRONG OWL TEAM

High School Boys of Bristol Resume Wrestling After Three-Year Lay-Off

FINAL COUNT 32½ TO 6½

Bristol School Plans To Adopt The Sport Again On A Regular Schedule

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Jan. 30.—After a three year lapse of time, Bristol High resumed wrestling as a competitive sport when they took on the Bensalem Owl grapplers here yesterday afternoon. And the Owls, taking up where they left off three years ago, marred the Cardinals' return debut on the mats by administering a 32½ to 6½ lacing to the Bristol lads.

Yesterday's meet was hastily arranged two weeks ago when Bristol played at Bensalem in basketball. But in the two weeks time the Cards have been practicing, they showed up rather well against the much more experienced Owl wrestlers. What's more they indicated that in a few short weeks, they will have advanced far along the lines of intercollegiate wrestling.

Summary of meet:
95 lb. class: Les Engle, Bensalem, pinned Allen Hibbs, Bristol, with a half-nelson and body press in 1:12. Score: Bensalem, 5; Bristol, 0.

105 lb. class: Barney Hughes, Bensalem, won over Tony Jardine, Bristol, on a referee's decision. Score: Bensalem, 8; Bristol, 0.
115 lb. class: Jim Shapcott, Bensalem, won on a fall with a half-nelson and arm lock over Jack DeLong, Bristol, in 1:29. Score: Bensalem, 13; Bristol, 0.
125 lb. class: Barney Reynolds, Bensalem, threw Carman Ciafella, Bristol, with a bar arm lock and half-nelson in 2:27. Score: Bensalem, 18; Bristol, 0.
135 lb. class: Bob Reynolds, Bensalem, and Ferdinand Monus, Bristol, wrestled to a draw. Score: Bensalem, 19½; Bristol, 1½.
145 lb. class: Charlie Vansant, Bensalem, scored a referee's decision over Hardy Johnson, Bristol. Score: Bensalem, 22½; Bristol, 1½.
155 lb. class: John Melidio, Bristol, tossed Roy Silcox, Bensalem, with a half-nelson and body press in 2:30. Score: Bensalem, 22½; Bristol, 6½.
165 lb. class: Elwood Silcox, Bensalem, dropped Joe Fallon with a body press in 1:15. Score: Bensalem, 27½; Bristol, 6½.
185 lb. class: Warren Jester, Bensalem, beat John Cocordas, Bristol, on a fall in 2:05 with a half nelson and body press. Final score: Bensalem, 22½; Bristol, 6½.

Score by bouts:
Bristol ..... 0 0 0 0 1½ 0 5 0 0—6½
Bensalem ..... 5 3 5 5 1½ 3 0 5 3—32½

Bucks County Gives $633 To Salvation Army

into uncharted channels to help those in need, in building character among the young, in caring for orphaned children, unwed mothers and homeless men, and in providing educational and community activities at The Salvation Army's ten corps centers.

"There is a saying about The Salvation Army—Where the need is—that is where you will find The Salvation Army." Our War veterans know this only too well, and I am sure that hundreds of other of our citizens know it, too.

"The work of The Salvation Army in its 22 agencies serving Philadelphia, Montgomery, Chester, Delaware and Bucks counties cover many phases of human needs, and this work is carried out among those in need, without regard to race, color, or creed.

"The money you give to The Maintenance Fund Campaign of the Salvation Army is spent right here in the Philadelphia area. Not one penny of it goes elsewhere.

"In view of the magnificent work done by The Salvation Army for the entire community, I am confident the residents of Bucks County will help us put over our share of the Campaign."

Richard Hay Woolsey is general chairman of the campaign, with Morgan H. Thomas as treasurer. Contributions in cash or check may be given to any authorized worker, or they may be sent to the Salvation Army's Maintenance Fund Campaign Officer, Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Building.
